THE BRITISH COLONIST

Saturday Morning, October 8, 1864.

Cariboo-and we shall probably take no heed, but go on slumbering over the mine any moment be touched by the torch of incompetency or neglect. We cannot, however, afford to wait until another steamboat explosion occurs. We must, like sensible people, prevent by all possible means the recurrence of such casualties. We must have a system that will not teave our steamboat boilers to imperfect inepection, nor our steamboat engines to be at tended to by men who scarcely know the difference between the piston and the safetyvalve. We want a Board of Examination before which, in the first place, steamboat inspectors will have to undergo a test of their eapacity, and which will question narrowly she claims of every person who aspires to act as engineer. Until we have this saleguard, steamboat travelling in these waters will be, dangerous. We do not make these remarks te disparage the engineers of our steam vessels generally, but to protect the public against the few who may be incompetent; nor do we seek to destroy confidence like that of the engineers, tested, and his that are devoted to steamboat machinery are eadly inefficient. Vessels get certificates to sun for a number of mouths, and, in many cases they are never inspected until this Song, term expires. Now, there can be no greater fallacy-no greater danger than this. This, with other cases of a similar character, is sufficient in itself to show how imperfect is any lengthened periodical inspection of highpressure steamers. There are all sorts of pressure steamers. There are all sorts of Doors open at 7 colock. Performance to com-theories advanced to account for these explosions when the usual amount of steam pressure has not been exceeded, but electricity seems to be the most popular of the delusions. B. C. & V. Express The cause may, however, be accounted for in most cases by simply the wear and tear of the boiler, which may, through bad management, be unexis in a week's time from its inspection. It, therefore, follows that in order to ensure anything like safety, the inspector should be continually on the alect-examining stemmers as they come in and as they go out Of course he should be a man sufficiently skilled to be able to tell defects by the eye, without having recourse to his pump on every eccasion, and who will not confine his attention to the boiler but extend it to the condition of the whole machinery. It steamers were thus examined and none but expeslenced engineers allowed to run the boats we should, in all likelihood, never hear of as explosion at all. Our steamboat traffic is gradually assuming large proportions, and it will not do to continue much longer in our present very insecure condition-much more insecure than the great majority of our

A CALM OPINION OF THE LEECH RIVER MINES .- A Cariboo miner who returned yesterday from a week's visit to Leech iter, gives us a dispassionate opinion of the value of the mines. He says that no work of any extent will be carried on this winter, but firmly believes that noxt season the whole river for a distance of nine or ten miles will average large wages. It will be pecessary however to flume the whole stream. He saw two men working in a hole n the bed of the stream, about seven feet deep, one baling out the water and another shoveling the dirt, and every time the water was lowered by a panful being lifted the gold could be seen glittering among the gravel on The miners, however, could not water low enough to enable them and people have been urged again and again to explore the Island, as the source of her wealth must be her minerals; what was done I would ask until the arrival of His-Excellency Governor Kennedy? History will record nothing! nothing!!

"Tis true that there was a standing efficial advertisement in the Victoria papers offering a reward for the discovery of gold mines on the island, but what good was that? It was simply looked mon as a quack nostrum or ate 19 men who have taken up claims. A were there a supply of water sufficient to work them. This want will, however, be

The Education Question.—Hisewhere in our columns will be found the Report of the Committee on Education appointed by the House of Assembly. On Thesday next the House will go into committee on the subject and will proceed to pass a bill "in accordance with the well-understood wishes of the neople." There is no single subject on people." There is no single subject on which the people are more unanimons than this; they demand the establishment of a good common school system, similar to those of certain other countries, which are the admiration of the world, and they must and will have it, the sapient resolutions of the Legislative Council to the contrary notwithstanding. It is satisfactory to know that the House of Assembly are almost to a man with the people on this question; and as they hold the pushed strings, the public may rely on obtaining that boon which so many of them have so long and so vigorously stringfield for—a popular of the public properties of the public properties of the public properties of the public properties.

SMALL DEATS—Mr. Dennes' "bill for the more easy recovery of small debts and demands," which has made its periodical appearance on the notice board of the House of Assembly ever since the return of the learned member for Salt Spring, received its quietus yesterday in a full House. A bill will be frought in, in accordance with the ravolutions which appear in our House report, granting jurisdiction to Justices of the Peace up to $250, with privilege of appeal in the latter case to the higher court.

Friday Oct. 7th. The Assembly met at 3:15 p. m. Present, the Speaker, Messrs. DeCosmos, Franklin, Tolmie, Trimble, Dickson, Street, Duncan, Dennes, Powell and Southgate.

KDUCATION. Dr. Powell presented the following repor

tising in Great Britain. Mr. Franklin from the committee on education : moved the postponement of the resolutions The committee appointed for the purpose finvestigating the subject of education moved the postponement of the resolutions for a month, or even for a fortnight, in order to allow a bill to be brought in legalizing the appropriation. The effect of this would simply be to take the matter out of the hands of the Assembly and place it at the mercy of the Legislative Council, under whose manipulation, judging from their recent actions, the bill would run great risk of coming to an untimely end. We acquit Dr. Dickson and Mr. Franklin of any intention of lending their assistance to strangling the resolutions, poople.

their assistance to strangling the resolutions, but we warn them to beware how they give even unconscious aid to anything which might tend to prevent so desirable a consummation as the appointment of a new Chief Justice. In the words of a speaker in the House yesterday, "We may do with an extemporised Attorney General, we might put up with an extemporised Colonial Secretary, we might even do without a Governor, but without a Chief Justice the whole colony would come to a stand-still." In it the writer In your issue of August 30th appears an article headed "Who is primarily entitled to the merit of discovering our gold fields?" and signed "Historicus." In it the writer endeavors to show that history will award to Gov. Douglas the merit of finding the gold in Vancouver Island.

Mr. Decommon said it would probably be to contradict what "Historicus" asserts, i. e., that Gov. Douglas is the discoverer of the necessary to pass such an act, but he believed the custom of the Imperial Parliament was to gold mines of Vancouver Island. 'Tis true that no governor under the British Crown pass such resolutions pledging the revenue which were binding on the House.

that no governor under the British Crown over had a better opportunity of immortalising himself in the annals of history and handing down his name to posterity as a pieneer governor, but like many in private life he neglected the golden opportunity and did not take the advantage to develop the resources of the colonies which his position as governor conferred upon him.

England does not give credit to her governors of colonies for wisdom or economy when they neglect to have her waste territories explored; on the contrary she has spent which were binding on the House.

The Speaker said he presumed the intention was to insert the provision in the civil list when the estimates came down.

Mr. Street sail he thought the Imperial Government would accept the offer in good faith, (hear, hear.)

Dr. Helmcken proposed that there should be no appeal in cases below $50. If a poor man had a case against a rich man, the latter might carry it to the higher courts, and force his poorer opponent to follow him.

Mr. DeCosmos said there was also danger in allowing no appeal, through the vindic tiveness or error of the judge.
